The screenshot shows the Microsoft Academic Preview interface. At the top, there is a dark blue header with the text "Microsoft Academic Preview" on the left, a search bar with the placeholder "Type your search query..." in the center, and a user profile icon and the name "engayamamdouh" on the right. Below the header, the main profile area is white. On the left, there is a profile picture of a young child, the name "eng aya mamdouh (engayamamdouh)", and statistics for "0 FOLLOWERS" and "0 FOLLOWING". On the right side of the profile area, there are three blue buttons: "PROFILE", "AUTHORS", and "PAPERS". A red arrow points from the top right towards the "PROFILE" button. Below the profile area, there are several sections with icons and text: "Co-authors", "Co-author Affiliations", "Research Topics", "Published In Journals", and "Published In Conferences". Each section has a sub-header and a paragraph of text explaining that there is nothing yet and suggesting to start claiming papers to automatically populate the respective field.
